“NOVATRON” SYSTEM REQUIREMENTS

This program requires the IBM Personal Computer with 64K of RAM, IBM DOS Version 1.1, and Color Graphics Board.

INSTALLING “NOVATRON”

The first thing you should do is to install the Disk Operating System onto your “NovaTron” disk. To do this, first insert your DOS Ver. 1.1 disk into disk drive A. Next insert the “NovaTron” disk into disk drive B. Turn on your computer and when the request for the current date appears, press the return key twice. When A > appears then type B: INSTALL and follow the instructions given. Now anytime you wish to play “NovaTron”, just place the disk into Drive A and turn the computer on or press the CTRL-ALT-DEL keys simultaneously.

PLAYING “NOVATRON”

“NovaTron” is a high-speed strategy game based on building walls to trap your opponent (the computer). Your wall construction begins near the bottom center of the screen with the computer beginning directly across the playfield from you. The object of your wall building is to force the computer to crash into a wall before you do. (Of course the computer has the same thing in mind.)

To begin play press key 1, 2, or 3 for the desired difficulty level. If you desire silent play select A, B, or C. If you wait 45 seconds without making a selection the computer will go into an automatic demonstration of the program. If you wish to terminate the demonstration, press the space bar.

There are four keys which control your wall building. Key F10 is used to speed the construction. Key F9 will bring the speed back down to normal. The INS key will turn the wall left (the wall's left, not necessarily yours). The DEL key will turn the wall right (ditto).

Two other keys to remember are the ESC key to terminate the program and the Space Bar to restart play after you've won or lost. If you win at least two games in a row the computer will increase the difficulty. Losing three games in a row will cause the program to restart. GOOD LUCK!
